Organizer arrived today, (Wed) and it looks fantastic...more than met my expectations. I also like the armrest. Will be out at the airplane this weekend to see how it fits, and if we also feel like the armrest will work. The organizer fits just perfect. You wanted to know about the packing and shipping....it came thru just fine, not a mark on it, and the power coat looks great. I sent a comment to the Cardinal Flyers Digest, and copied you on the email. I will take some pictures and send them as soon as I can. (we are moving, and the camera is packed somewhere).

Fellow CFOers,

Just ordered and received a cockpit organizer from www.saircorp.com and thought I would let others know of this fine product. Visit their website if you are thinking about a between-the-seat organizer.

It is made of aircraft aluminum, powder coated, and fits like a glove. This organizer was made for a Cardinal. It has many accessories. I ordered mine with a Ox tank holder and an armrest. The people at Saircorp processed, packed, and shipped the product fast, and were very nice on the phone with questions. Check it out, saw their ad in Cessna Pilots Magazine. I was requested to take pictures for posting on their website, so watch for the pictures.
